All Invited To Remembrance Service

CROSSFIELD. — The officers and members of the Crossfield branch of the Canadian Legion extend an invitation to all residents to join them at the Remembrance Service which will take place in the United Church at 10:45 a.m., November 11th.

Legion Padre Rev. A. B. Lea will be in charge, assisted by Rev. C. W. Anderson. Following the service the congregation will assemble at the Cenotaph where a wreath will be laid by the Legion and a short service conducted.

CROSSFIELD NEWS

CROSSFIELD. — Mr. Eric Hopkins was a business visitor in Crossfield last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snyder of Marathon were week-end visitors at the Harnett home.

We understand that Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Richardson have purchased Eric Hopkins' house and will move in shortly.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rife (nee Margery Brandon) Oct. 29, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Drinckall of Calgary were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Mumby.

Mrs. Jim Belshaw spent last week-end in Calgary.

The Anglican Women's Guild wish to remind the people of their annual bazaar, bake sale and tea which will take place in the Curling rink, Nov. 12.

Beaver Dam H. & S. Association Holds Meeting

MADDEN. — The first meeting for this term the Beaver Dam Home and School Association was held Tuesday evening, Oct. 25 at the school hall.

Officers elected were: president, Myron Latimer; vice-president, Mrs. E. J. Staford; secretary, Mrs. I. Vance; treasurer, Mrs. E. Rach; entertainment committee, Mrs. N. King and Mrs. V. J. Rach; programs committee, Mr. McInnes, Miss Liddell, Mrs. Massie and Mrs. Dodd.

It was decided to hold the meetings on the second Thursday in each month.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 9, as Friday is a holiday and the teachers wish to leave on Thursday after school. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Dog Makes Himself At Home

CROSSFIELD. — We understand that Mumby's have fallen heir to a pair collie and part police dog of a very friendly nature. Mr. Mumby says that this dog is very fond of children and that his dark brown coat with black markings and white collar attracts him very much.

Mr. Mumby doesn't want the owner to think they have kidnapped the dog but no doubt he will be relieved to know he can find his dog at Mumby's.

Anyones wishing a Poppy wreath either to lay on the Cenotaph or for display in their window, can purchase same through the Legion secretary, Al Cross, at the bank.

MAINTAINING HIS GROUND

Canadian Legion

By winning four out of seven seats in bye-elections Monday, while three others went to Independents who said they would support the government, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent was believed to have come successfully through his first major test in the Liberal Party of the ills since the overwhelming victory of June 27. The other seat was retained by the Progressive Conservative. Prime Minister is shown above, extreme right, with Mrs. St. Laurent by his side. Others, left to right, are Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of national defence; Hon. Douglas Abbott, finance minister; Soldier General Hughes Lapointe; and C. A. Danceau, national president of the Young Liberal Association.

World in Review

London — Britain may never build another battleship. Functions of this type of ship today are convoy duty, task force, escort carriers and naval bombardment in support of landings operations. Barring unforeseen developments, the battleship in battles like Essex is a thing of the past and naval thinking today is that its expense does not justify construction for other types of duties which may be carried out just as effectively by other instruments of warfare.

Luxembourg — Devaluation and European economic conditions are hitting hard blows at Luxembourg's steel industry and threatening her position as seventh largest world producer.

Montevideo, Uruguay — Britain is reported to be very disappointed in the Anglo-Argentine trade pact. Edgar J. Joint, new commercial minister, said in an address here that England "was distressed that very important parts of the agreement have not been carried out."

Washington — U.S.A. imports from North American countries rose from $176,100,000 in June to $189,300,000 in August, according to the Census Bureau. Most important change was an increase in imports from Canada from $105,500,000 to $117,400,000.

London — Britain's big nut plan is going a bit sour. Experts of the government-sponsored food corporation, which three years ago launched a scheme to produce 600,000 tons of nuts annually from African wasteland, has been unable to find the answer to the way soil in Tanganyika becomes baked as hard as a tennis court. It makes it very difficult to get the nuts out of the ground.

Ottawa — Canada has changed its policy for Eskimo schools to make it a centre of the communities. Now there will be permanent schools in even the small communities.

Washington — Many reports are being received in official Washington that the Comifor Army may start a guerrilla campaign in Yugoslavia before the year is out.

London — Britain intends to supplement its meat ration with reindeer. Lapland is sending a Christmas present of a herd of 25 which will be settled in the Highlands this month.

Buenos Aires — Production of Argentine cotton is tending to come static because of shortage of labor. Farmers are finding increasing difficulty in competing for supplies.

Washington — Use of negro population in Southern States of the U.S.A. is continuing to grow, according to figures recently released.

The Hague — Target date for the Netherlands to transfer sovereignty to the United States of Indonesia has been set between December 15th and 20th.

Boston — Lord Alfred Webb-Johnson, president of the Royal

College of Physicians and Surgeons, said in a speech here that he thought Britain had made a mistake in trying to launch a complete program of socialized medicine at one time.

London — "Pep teams" to tour foundries have been appointed by English foundry employers. They will tour factories trying to determine deficiencies and to recommend measures to bring the industry to the highest industrial standards and performance.

New York — Rand McNally has issued its first new and complete atlas since the war — the war being World War the first. It has been eight years in preparation.

London — British Museum translators are joining with scholars in New York and Jerusalem in editing eight small parchments which are believed to be part of the Biblical text at least 1,000 years older than any previously known to be in existence. The eight leather scrolls were accidentally found by a goat herder in a cave near the Dead Sea, Palestine, and scholars already confirm their authenticity.

Junior C.G.I.T. Hosts To Explorers

CROSSFIELD — On Friday, Oct. 28 the Junior C.G.I.T. under the leadership of Mrs. E. R. Banta played hosts to the Girls Explorers at a Hallowe'en party held in the United Church parlors. The girls all wore costumes for the occasion.

During the evening the C.G.I.T. girls took the Explorers through "The House of Horror." After a few games were played and a tasty lunch served the youngsters returned to their homes thrilled from the happenings of the evening.

Explorers Hold Party

CROSSFIELD — Among the many Hallowe'en parties held last week was the party held by the Boys Explorers. After collecting treats around town Monday night, they met at the United Church parlors where they played games, had stunts and topped the evening off with a delightful lunch. The boys really had an evening.

Will Operate Checking Booth

CROSSFIELD — At the Remembrance Day dance to be held on Nov. 10, the Tuxis Boys and the C.G.I.T. will operate a checking booth for your convenience. All proceeds of the booth will go to these organizations for the work carried on by the groups.

Please help support these groups. Your patronage will be greatly appreciated.

Winners of C.W.L. Raffle

CROSSFIELD — The lucky people who carried away the prizes raffled by the C.W.L. at their annual bazaar are as follows:

First prize — Table lamp, Mrs. M. Back; 2, $10 merchandise at Kinsmen Electric; Mrs. H. Gingrich of Ardross; 3, English China teapot, W. J. Wood; 4, Eight-day mantle clock, Mrs. McNally; 5, kitchen clock, Mrs. C. Duggan; 6, copper whistling kettle, Mrs. F. Mason; Jr. of Thamele, Ont.; 7, ham, Phil Blanchard of Calgary; 8, Swing Away can opener, Fielder Spalding.

A door prize, being a fruit cake, was also given away. This was won by Mrs. Pullan.

MADDEN NEWS

MADDEN — The annual chicken supper sponsored by the Madden Ladies' Club was held Saturday, Oct. 22 in the hall. Despite the bad roads and snowstorm a large crowd was in attendance and enjoyed a beautiful supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cameron of Moorepark, Man., who have been visiting the latter's sisters, Mrs. N. King and Mrs. L. Haggerty left on Thursday to return home. They were accompanied by Mrs. King and Mrs. Rita King who will spend a week visiting relatives.

The Clifford family entertainers staged a program audience in the Madden Hall on Friday, Oct. 28, consisting of songs, imitations, accordion solos and a magician act. There was a large crowd in attendance and the program was well received by the audience.

Ray Vaughan is a patient in a Calgary hospital where he recently underwent an operation. At last report he was well on the road to recovery.

Mr. J. W. Aaskow is driving a new Meteor sedan and D. B. Farguharson has recently purchased a new Dodge.

Hallowe'en Party Is Held

CROSSFIELD — The West 500 group held their weekly meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Goettler last Friday evening.

After the judging of the costumes of which Mr. and Mrs. Vic Law took first prize, the evening was spent in playing 500. Mrs. R. Poffenroth took first prize for women and John Low first for the men.

The tables were decorated with Hallowe'en motifs. A dainty lunch served by the hostess brought the enjoyable evening to a close.

The annual Remembrance Day dance will be held in the Crossfield hall on Thursday, November 10th. The Melody Kings will supply the music, and a good time is assured.

Nine Musts For Better Tailoring Repairs

By RUTH WHALEY

Do the suits and overcoats you fix over look home-made or hand tailored? For easier, quicker work with that professional touch, keep these supplies on hand:

FOR SALE

Two-storey building on main street in Hardisty. Suitable as shop or store with 4-roomed apartment upstairs with separate front and back entrances. $500.00 cash balance $40.00 per month includes principal and interest.

1. Thread for buttons. Size 0 three-cord mercerized thread is stronger than thread that is ordinarily used for home sewing. If you can't get an exact match, buy the darker shade. Often black thread looks better on a navy blue suit, because the blue thread works up lighter than it appears on the spool.

If you can't get the buttonhole twist for men's suits, use double sewing thread. Wax it for strength and easy handling. One yard of buttonhole twist will make ten average buttonholes.

2. Beeswax for waxing cord over which buttonholes are worked; reworking worn buttonholes, or waxing thread for sewing on buttons.

3. Buttons from worn out suits and overcoats replace those lost or broken. Matching pants buttons can be cheaply bought at notions counters.

4. Lining material to repair coat linings or to make underarm shields. When you buy dark linings, ask for colorfast material, so the color will not rub off on white shirts. Preshrink lining material before you cut it. If it shrinks

IT WAS HOT, FAST AND ROUGH

Ted Morris' fast-striking Toronto Argonauts, heated up by weather in the hill Ontario over Thanksgiving weekend, played spectacular football to a 27-10 victory over Hamilton Wildcats before a Thanksgiving Day crowd of 18,500. On Saturday, Sculley defeated Wildcats, 11-10, at Hamilton, making it fourth straight win for Toronto team. Argonauts are now in second place in Big Four Conference, four points behind Montreal Alouettes. Above, Canadian Wildcat is seen leaping high to help bring down Argos' Copeland during action-packed scene from Monday's game.

after cleaning, the seams will pull out. Get rayon lining that will stand a fairly hot iron.

5. Twill for inside trouser pockets. A 16" length of 30" width material should be sufficient for two side pockets. Cotton material or cotton tape five eights wide, the same color as the trousers, is best for trouser wear guards to protect trouser legs from the rub of shoes.

6. Scraps of matching suit material for future repairs.

7. Pressing supplies. Steam pressing is a must for a good repair job. Colorfast wool is especially good for pressing wool since it absorbs the steam, helps to distribute the moisture evenly, prevents water spotting and does not leave lint on the garment. A cotton cloth should be placed between the wool press cloth and the iron. The chemically treated press cloths are very good, too.

8. Tissue Paper or Brown Wrapping Paper slipped under seams, pocket flaps, or hems when pressing gives marks showing on the right sides.

9. A magazine or newspaper rolled tightly and covered with flannel and little cotton makes a good substitute for a sleeve roll. Never press wool until it is perfectly dry or it will be hard and lifeless.

Put these on your shopping list so that you will have them on hand when you need them.

BLUESTONE TREATMENT FOR FENCE POSTS

Bluestone treatment is one of the most simple and effective methods of preserving fence posts. It is particularly valuable when used on poplars or cottonwoods in which it will prolong the life of the post four or five times their normal life when untreated.

The treatment recommended is as follows:

1. Build a cement or wooden vat three or four feet square and three feet deep (Metal containers cannot be used with bluestone).

2. Posts should be prepared for use (pointed or square) and preferably peeled the entire length of the post and the butt or pointed end entirely peeled.

3. Posts should be placed in the vat pointed end down.

4. Enough solution should be in the vat so that when full of posts they will be immersed at least two feet.

5. A saturated solution should be used, that is, a solution which will not dissolve any more bluestone. The solution can be kept saturated by hanging a sack containing solid bluestone in the liquid.

6. Saturation requires from two and one-half to three hours of bluestone per ton of water.

7. The solution will rise through the wood until it reaches the top of the post. In freshly cut posts this will take from eight to twelve hours. The hotter the day and the greener the post the more rapidly will the treatment progress. Posts cut during the winter or early summer take the treatment most successfully. Those cut later in the year take the solution more slowly and not so thoroughly.

PLAN ACHIEVEMENT DAY, ENTERTAINMENT

At the regular meeting of the SanguidJunior Clubs held on October 22, plans were made for the achievement day to be held on November 3. During the afternoon the potato club members will exhibit eight of the tubers grown from the seed secured from Mr. Bowess of McLeod Valley last spring. The evening program in the Community hall will commence at 8 p.m. Briefly it will be a discussion of the value of testing grain for seed by Mr. Froebel. Description of common bad weeds and effective control measures by the club members. An address by the members of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, staff. Presentation of awards to potato club members by Mr. Campbell, District Agriculturist, Evansburg, who will act as judge. Resume of the junior club trip to Jasper by Joe Schnurer. Moving pictures dealing with soil erosion and weed control.

These activities are not intended for club members only. The public is invited to attend one or both of these programs. On this occasion the junior clubs will be hosts to all who wish to attend. There will be no admission.

The potato club members will raffle small bushels of potatoes in order to defray the costs of renting the hall and other expenses. Get your ticket now from any club member and win your winter's supply of spuds. Tickets 25¢.

Barbara Ann Scott
Here Nov. 8-12

Barbara Ann Scott will wear more than $15,000 worth of costumes during the presentation of Skating Sensations of 1950, scheduled for the Edmonton Arena Gardens November 8 to 12. This is but one feature of the great skating spectacle that awaits the spectators when this sensational show takes to the ice in Edmonton.

Initial Canadian debut was made at the Amphitheatre in Winnipeg last week and thousands went away thrilled and satisfied that Sensations of 1950 is the finest show they have ever seen. This week Miss Scott and a cast of 50 are performing at Vancouver. Among the performers are 20 of Canada's most beautiful and finest skaters including several from Western Canada. They will perform as a unit and individually in a series of spectacular productions. Besides the Canadian cast, the performers have reached across the border for the world's most famous skaters. Among them are Melandres and Brundstrader, the famous "house painters"; Johnny Fitzgerald champion stilt skater; and Peggy and Bob White, world's best adagio pair on skates. Canada's top ranking comedian, Dick Nutter, also wows

Two Projectors
Was the Answer

It took a little ingenuity to do it, but Egyptians were shown Canadian agricultural motion pictures with commentaries in their native tongue at a recent exhibition in Cairo.

The problem was this: "he Egyptian Ministry of Agriculture had agreed to sponsor a showing of the Canadian films Bluebloods From Canada," "Central Experimental Farm," "Coffeefit For Seed," and "Canadian Wheat Story" at a big industrial and agricultural exhibition in Cairo.

There was a string to it. The commentator must speak in Arabic. Only English-language versions of the films were on hand, so the Films Officer of the United Kingdom Foreign Office arranged for the production of a separate sound track on which the commentary was voiced in Arabic. The use of two projectors, one projecting the visual without sound, the other providing the Arabic commentary without visuals, solved the problem. The screening, though clumsy from the technical viewpoint, was highly successful.

Other Canadian films, some of them on agricultural topics, have been produced in Arabic, as well as English, French, Dutch, Swedish, German, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese.

A Million Diabetics

Today, because of insulin, a million diabetics live in our country and millions more in other parts of the world. The present outlook for diabetics is hopeful . . . diet restrictions are few and occupations only slightly limited. But diabetics should keep in constant touch with their physician and follow his directions to the letter. Eat a healthy diet, exercise, and live a happy, normal life. Your health is your personal affair. Make sure of your good health today by having a complete medical checkup.

Mail order for seats to witness this great spectacle are flooding the offices of the Edmonton Gardens, and out-of-towners planning to attend are urged to order their reservations immediately.

COLOR VIDEO TO CROSS OCEANS BUT HOW ABOUT OUR DOORSTEP?

When television first was known to be feasible, scientists quickly pointed out that beams were limited by the visible horizon, and thus the great difficult of chain broadcasting except by a tremendous series of relay stations.

Now scientists are talking in terms of intercontinent broadcasts. Not Jules Verne types but sober, practical men like W. K. Zworykin, vice-president and technical consultant for RCA-Victor.

Not only have coaxial cables permitted a video chain to be carried trans-continentially by telephone lines, but aircraft flying the Atlantic may make possible trans-oceanic broadcasts. As soon as enough aircraft are flying the Atlantic so that only a few hundred miles separate them, then an uninterrupted television program between continent and continent will be possible, Dr. Zworykin states positively. The aircraft would carry a receiver-transmitter combination which is already in existence, and at the rate trans-Atlantic flying is developing, it should not be long before the first trans-oceanic television broadcast.

Not only that, but all-electronic full-color television is on its way, asserts Dr. Zworykin. Color television was first demonstrated in 1946 and since then steady progress has been made in solving engineering, manufacturing, and broadcasting problems involved.

While television has become fairly commonplace in the United States, all this will seem incredible to those Canadians who have never even seen a black and white video program yet.

The CBC has been making vague passes at getting into the television field and the National Film Board told the Royal Commission on Canadian Culture it was willing to play its part in films for television, but the majority of Canadian broadcasting officials believe it will be five years yet before video comes to Canada except in isolated areas close to the American boundary.

Perhaps this is just as well, for by that time television should be out of swaddling clothes. The general public will not have to be buying an expensive set wondering in how many days it will be outmoded, and fairly decent chain programs should then be a reality.

From what we have heard it has done to home life in the United States, it is a blessing it is being delayed. If we are to become shut-in subjects of a visible and audible tyrant, if we are to have our entire cultural life molded on what the titans of entertainment in the U.S.A. regard as the intellectual and cultural level of the community, it would be just as well if it were indefinitely delayed—if not relegated to the realm of forgotten things forever.

Possibly in five years time everyone may have a bit more sense. But we doubt it.

IS A CANADIAN HEADED FOR U.S.A. WHITE HOUSE?

A Canadian may yet become president of the United States.

As nearly any school boy knows, one of the qualifications for president is that he be a native born American. Article 2, Section 1, of the American Constitution actually provides that no one but "a natural born citizen of the United States is eligible for the office of president."

Yet no decision has ever been handed down by the Supreme Court eliminating the foreign-born American citizen. Other decisions and a whole body of statutory law, moreover, indicate that a very good brief indeed could be prepared qualifying such a person under the constitutional provision.

Indeed, if a sufficient body of public opinion, with support in Congress and Senate, favored a foreign-born American, there's nothing to prevent the constitution itself to be amended.

And who is this Canadian possible candidate? None other than Franklin D. Roosevelt.

While possibly a "junior" should be added, as his famous father, the late president is dead, he is now F.D.R. And Franklin, Jr., was born at the Roosevelt summer house, Campobello, New Brunswick.

Except for the constitutional provision, another Maritime might have been the first Canadian president. Franklin K. Lane, a native of Prince Edward Island, around the early years of the century went as high in U.S.A. government circles as possible outside the presidency.

Only his Canadian birth was said to have kept him out of that high office.

And the possibility of another F.D.R. as president is far from remote. Newspapers and magazines in the U.S.A. are already speculating on the prospect following his spectacular victory in being elected a Democratic Congressman in New York in opposition to Tammany Hall.

Nothing prevents an American from becoming prime minister of Canada. American-born Charles Decatur Howe might have achieved it had he been personally willing.

The accident of birth determines many things. But, to Canadians at least, it would be symbolic, rather than ironic, that the next Franklin Delano Roosevelt to occupy the White House is a Canadian.

CROSSFIELD CHRONICLE

Dear Editor

MANITOU, MAN AND MANNA

Whatever one may think of Mr. Freud's views, they must be admitted that they are challenging, and these are times when the gauge should be lifted.

I very much doubt whether Mr. Freud's theories of either Darwin or Mendel. I rather fancy, that like myself, who would endeavour to give both their proper place in the scheme of life, I would not be able to do justice to either of them.

The analogy of the partly-filled milk pitcher is inadequate, as far as I am concerned, for one of the most important features of human relationships, and that is faith, which pervades all our lives. Faith, like manna or God, is not a substitute for knowledge, but rather a complement to it.

The application that truth can only be discovered by scientific means is a reflection on man's power of observation. When Newton, in the fall of the year 1665, was in the room in which he had discovered without the aid of science, the theory to verify the truth by its application in other fields, he catalogued the law of gravitation. When it was found that the theory did not exactly apply to the moon, he had to go to the stars to extend the theory to meet the needs of relativity.

It seems to me that as assumed by Mr. Freud, that the investigations pursued by Charles Darwin caused him to abandon his early religious beliefs. Nothing, of course, could be further from the truth, and deep regret was expressed in his last words that his young son, porcupines had misconstrued his statements and had misinterpreted the name of his name which he had never contemplated.

It would be an interesting experiment to place in chronological order, commencing, we may, with Abraham, the first of the great convictions who have been national and international leaders of their time, and their endeavours to place side by side with those of men who, with pronounced atheism who have exerted a comparable influence in national and international affairs.

I venture to assert that it would be an impossible task. Some of the greatest Greek philosophers assumed God to be, and move, and have on behalf of Theology, the follower of Jesus Christ, whether the theory of evolution can be said to be proved or not, is of small importance. These men, however, covered what Henry Drummond describes as "the Greatest thing in the world," and passes knowledge of truth far more profound than any scientific investigator, to which Bertrand Russell could contribute nothing.

I would recommend a study of the works of Emil Brunner or the works of John of the Gospels.

Yours very truly,
FRANK W. WIGGINS,

PROVINCIAL MERRY-GO-ROUND PEOPLE, PLACES, AND THINGS

PEOPLE

E. B. Brown, affable proprietor of Gable's Garage, Edmonton, told me the other day he can't raise me persuing American autos in the low-price range in popularity, and that he could not get enough of them to keep his place open. Asked me a look which implied, "you aren't going to believe me anyway, but I will supply you with some figures to indicate this fact which did startle me."

In British Columbia, last July 162,000 cars were registered, and 16,000 and Chevrolet, 30%. For the six months total, ending June 30, 1949, Austin's total was 1,214. Ford's was 1,000 and Chevrolet, 84%. These figures were duplicated all over Canada. Mr. Brown said.

Austin's popularity, therefore, has not depended on devaluation. The English car was making a hit long before the war.

Martin Bottcher, Austin dealer at Edmonton, had the following story to tell. If he could get the car he could easily make another dozen each month, he said.

PLACES

Comparisons are odious, but I'm in the mood to let the chips fall where they may. Certain settle-ments in the West have a co-operative spirit and others depress me for the opposite reason.

I've several favorites on the West Coast, but there are certain other places I wouldn't want to be found dead in. At the moment, Sangudo and Lac la Biche are the most attractive. Newbrook takes the prize at the opposite end of the poll.

Would it be sheer coincidence that the most people I've met are in the places I like the best?

One of the truest sayings among those which have become platitudes is "Nestle's garage turns out great people." This is a mark is occasioned by the fact that the people who work in these garages are among the nicest people I meet. I can think of one in Thorhild and another in Radway who would be embarrassed in Radway who would be embarrassed in Thorhild.

I venture to assert that it would be an impossible task. Some of the greatest Greek philosophers assumed God to be, and move, and have on behalf of Theology, the follower of Jesus Christ, whether the theory of evolution can be said to be proved or not, is of small importance. These men, however, covered what Henry Drummond describes as "the Greatest thing in the world," and passes knowledge of truth far more profound than any scientific investigator, to which Bertrand Russell could contribute nothing.

I would recommend a study of the works of Emil Brunner or the works of John of the Gospels.

Yours very truly,
FRANK W. WIGGINS,

If they knew what decent guys I think they are. It is nice to me around Christmas as they have been, so far I shall get the recklessness which comes with the Yuletide spirit and name them. Yuletide spirit and name them. Yuletide spirit and name them.

THINGS

One of the most priceless possessions for a journalist, and one of the most useful, is a sense of humor. I have heard a lot of stories about a predecessor of ours in Crossfield, who had it in rare degree. Since then, he has not been missed. One of the local favorites is about a dignified dowager who, on a visit to Canada, had the misfortune to fall into a deep sleep as she was coming out of a theater. With great presence of mind she picked up a stick which she had part of her hairpin, which gently awoke the old dame.

Martin Bottcher, Austin dealer at Edmonton, had the following story to tell. If he could get the car he could easily make another dozen each month, he said.

Something which strikes me as very curious is that I find more people read this right hand column which we have usually filled in as a "filler" than the other columns. I mean to my confere (confere) contributor that they have to editorials on which considerable thought has been spent, and I mean to say, it is for readers the best part of the paper to be exposed in editorials and they don't want to read an article which pretends to be intelligent?

Or could it be that we have given to that column more of a personal touch and the things which really interest people is generally referred to as "filler." For the time I've been considering writing more about people, places and things. Unfortunately, most of the things I hear about people in the places I go are not good, and THEY would like to have published.

Next time I come around—Does anyone know a good story?

Build The Northlander, build its voice and let's start building a road.

Yours truly,

PROGRESS

(From the Edmonton Bulletin)

The whole country can learn a lesson from the town of Morinville.

Somebody, other than the citizens, has been writing about Morinville for the past seven years.

The place was under an administrator because its civic leaders became apathetic.

The place is now in a better position than the pioneer community, some 25 miles north of Edmonton, is back on its feet, planning major improvements, and will soon once again elect its own council.

This is good news for Morinville, but it is also good news, with a more far reaching significance.

Morinville has climbed out of the rut into which it had slipped.

The Canadians who are inclined to feel that the world may be seen or known, don't hurt them, would do well to look into that rut and see how deep and easily it can be dug.

What can happen to a town can happen to a country if you let it.

In the meantime, it is good to see and to work for the town of Morinville, which has weathered economic storms for more than 50 years.

Murderer Can't Be Two Places At Once

Seventh Installment of "The Strangest Murder Case on Record"

Evidence was introduced by the Crown to establish that Paris was actually in St. John a day before he was alleged to have committed murder.

DEFINITELY IDENTIFY PARIS

Mrs. Ella Calvin said that a muleto molested her little girl in Riverside Park on Aug. 1. Both she and her 12-year-old daughter Alice definitely identified Paris.

In the face of this evidence, Defence Attorney G. H. Vernon was presented witness to establish that Paris was in Truro on Aug. 2 and 3. Paris took the stand and told of his movements in Truro on those days. He mentioned many persons he saw.
From the first trial onwards more and more of those Paris mentioned had been seen come to court to establish his story.

PARIS IN TRURO?

Mr. Vernon said he was going to prove that Paris was playing cards with inhabitants of the "Island," the negro section of Truro, on the night of Aug. 3.

Paris had been tried in Truro for stealing gasoline and evidence in that trial showed he had sold the stolen gasoline to a garage on Aug. 2.

Chief of Police Fraser saw
Paris on Aug. 2, and talked to him.
Paris went to a store and bought two cans of sardines on credit and this was entered on his bookkeeper's book as Aug. 2. Mr.
Vernon pointed out that all the Crown's evidence was recollection, and his own evidence was recorded.

This contention of Mr. Vernon's was well sustained. A striking part of his case was that he had produced a "pencil" to show that Paris was in Truro on the dates in question. Evidence in the gasoline theft trial placed him in Truro on the 2nd, the garage had a record of the stolen gasoline bought on that date; a doctor who visited a sick person at the Island saw Paris at the home on Aug. 2;
a bookkeeper produced his case book at a hat and cap factory with record of a receipt issued to Paris on Aug. 2.

If you want to look your worst for Halloween, here is an example of what can be done to make a woman Draconian. You draw a wig on backwards, so the hair falls just under the eyes, giving a sheep-ish look. Draw the eyebrows, making them able to see as you can peer through the bangs. Then draw eyes, complete with lashes, on your cheeks with a charcoal pencil.
Then draw a mouth for the whole face. If you're not so good at drawing, cut eyes from a magazine and paste them on, and border these with charcoal pencil. Then draw a lower lip in a broader and lower pattern than usual. But make the rouging of the upper lip thin to the point of near invisibility.

Vitaminized Label

When buying apple juice, housewives should look for the label
"vitaminized," which means the apple juice has been fortified with vitamin. This is the vitamin commonly found in oranges and grapefruit. For variety, then, you can serve "vitaminized" apple juice instead of orange juice for breakfast.

Handsomest Goose Extinction Threat

Ross's Goose, the smallest and one of the handsomest of Canada's wild geese, may be threatened with extinction.

This disturbing news is contained in the report of British, American and Canadian scientists, who have just returned from an expedition to the remote Perry River district in the Canadian Arctic.

It is less than ten years since the breeding grounds of Ross's Goose, formerly an unsolved mystery, were discovered in this area by officials of the Hudson's Bay Company.

At one time Ross's Geese were abundant, and were popular among hunters because of their excellent table quality. It has been known for many years that the species had been seriously reduced in numbers, and a year-round close season has been in force in both Canada and the United States.

Now this situation was changed. While Europe was still short of meats and dairy products, most countries did not have dollars to buy them, and were now able to maintain a fairly adequate standard of nutrition without them.

In 1950, U.S.A. and Canada would determine agricultural prices by conditions of supply and demand in their domestic markets.

On the supply side, live stock production seemed likely to increase, creating problems of finding buyers abroad for surplus grain would force farmers to market through the medium of live stock.

As for demand, purchasing power was still high, but some diminution had already set in.

Must Rely More On Home Market

Canada must be prepared to rely more on domestic support for farm prices. Canadian packing houses are warning. For this reason, a price decline in agricultural products must be anticipated.

All over the world, hunger and high prices led to a vast increase in food production. In Europe, for two years following VE-Day, a condition of semi-starvation existed, but great quantities of food were shipped from the U.S.A. and Canada.

$50,000 Love Suit

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Mrs. Eugenia Holland Brondum, 15-year-old bride, has filed a $50,000 suit against her in-laws, Dr. and Mrs. Luther A. Brondum, charging them with alienating her 16-year-old husband's love and affection.

She claims that she and her young husband set up housekeeping and lived happily until Luther's parents started in and lured him back home.

As the migration route of these birds passes through Alberta, all waterfowl hunters in this province should be particularly careful to avoid killing or wounding any Ross's Geese, which are strictly protected under the Migratory Bird Regulations.

In the field, Ross's Geese may be identified as a very small snow-white goose (about the size of a mallard) with black wing-tips. It has a reddish bill, with warty protuberances near the base, an account of which it is sometimes called "Scabby-nosed Goose." It is sometimes mistaken for a young Snow Goose, but the Snow Goose has a smooth, reddish bill, with wide black bands along the cutting edges forming a "grinning patch." Ross's Goose does not have a grinning patch.

Only continuance of strict government regulation, combined with the co-operation of waterfowl hunters and of all citizens interested in wild life, can save this beautiful and interesting wild bird from extinction.

Subscribers who renew their subscriptions promptly are the backbone of this paper.

Circulations Taken Over

The Staff Current Sun and the North Battleford News recently took over the paid-up circulations of the Cabri Enterprise and the Battleford Press, respectively. Both papers suspended publication in August.

The Sun has established a news bureau at Cabri in charge of R. L. Wright, who will act as agent for advertising, advertising and country correspondence.

Suspension of the Battleford Optimist, to open a news and advertising bureau at that point under supervision of R. L. Rivers, who will act as reporter and editor of a special Battleford page the Optimist will carry. No such newspaper has been published in the News, which merely stated it was taking over the Press's readership.

Harry Head, publisher of the Cabri paper, has joined Rivers in the purchase of the Assinibina Times, formerly owned by W. W. Stewart, and R. E. Bock, publisher of the Battleford News, has moved his plant equipment to Edmonton, where he has joined a partnership to form a new commercial printing firm.

Portable Shower Boon To Farm and Small Town

Give inventors time and they will think of everything.

Now one has come up with a portable shower designed for farms and small settlements which haven't water service. It is also a partial solution, at least, of the perpetual motion problem.

The shower bath looks, and acts, similar to a city-installed shower. The difference is that only a gallon of water (or less) is used and this is pumped by the user in a continual stream. The shower has a special filter which cleans the waste water and returns it through the drain to the pipe line again.

R. F. Plotke and R. J. Dawson of Calgary, who took over marketing of the article from the inventor, Arthur Brayton, Medicine Hat, state the pressure and stream are comparable to that operating on a city water system.

The Portable Shower Company is starting distribution in Alberta. The first demonstration will be in the Crossfield area towards the latter part of October.

Vancouver's Blue Bombers may not appear on next year's football line-up owing to financial difficulties. The loss will not be felt too greatly by Edmonton's Maple Leafs. But this is no reflection on the brand of football the Vancouver boys play!

Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Cameron and family extend grateful thanks to the many friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy and consolation which have so much to ease our grief in the passing of a dearly loved little grandson.

GET THE EXCLUSIVE IRON FIREMAN!

The heat generated in your furnace is of little avail if it is allowed to go up the stack. In the Iron Fireman Airborne unit the combustion chamber and secondary heating surfaces are scientifically designed for the efficient transfer of heat from the fire to the circulating air chambers. Every detail of the Iron Fireman has been very carefully engineered, and as a result, new standards of performance have been attained in the automatic burning of both coal and oil.

Saves time—Eliminates Drudgery

Increases Production of Farm and Dairy Products

Promotes Health and Sanitation.

Pumping water for livestock and carrying water for the home takes, according to farm surveys, on the average over two hundred hours of time in a year. This daily drudgery can be eliminated by installing a water pressure system. It costs very little to operate one of these systems—only one to three cents a day provides abundant water for all requirements.

It is easy to install a MASSEY-HARRIS WATER PRESSURE SYSTEM.
